ROCKY MOUNTAIN ANTLER MUSEUM

While reviewing the Recently Accepted Trophies list on the previous pages of this issue of Fair Chase, you may have noticed the greater than normal number of typical and non-typical mule deer. The reason for this is the 44 trophies entered in these two categories by Don Schaufler of Ennis, Montana (pictured below). Don's trophies are indicated with an asterisk next to the score.

Don owns what is undoubtedly the largest collection of trophy mule deer in the world. His collection includes nearly 100 records book trophies, including the 45 trophies recently accepted and listed in this issue of Fair Chase. Don indicates he recently acquired a few more trophies that he plans to enter in the future.

Many of his other trophies, which include several state records, are already listed in previous records books. Don's collection can be viewed (by appointment only) in Ennis, Montana, at his Rocky Mountain Antler Museum. His telephone number is 406/682-7153. Stop and visit the next time your travel plans take you through Montana. I guarantee you won't be disappointed.
