JACK WARD THOMAS

FORKS IN THE TRAIL

A Conservationist's Trek to the Pinnacles of Natural Resource Leadership

FOREWORD BY C

FORKS IN THE TRAIL

A CONSERVATIONIST'S TREK TO THE PINNACLES OF NATURAL RESOURCE LEADERSHIP

When Jack Ward Thomas was named chief of the U.S. Forest Service in 1993, only twelve men had ever known the staggering responsibility, political pressure—and extraordinary opportunities to influence the future of America's natural resources—that came with the job.

Forks in the Trail is a collection of memoirs that shaped the values, knowledge, skills, and decisions of a field biologist who came from a hardscrabble Texas farm to the pinnacles of natural resource leadership in Washington, D.C.

Thomas's formal education and decades of forest, range, and wildlife research had prepared him academically. His rural upbringing and passion for nature, hunting, and sustainable use of natural resources had prepared him pragmatically. But it was basic moxie that ultimately equipped Thomas to confront the most controversial conservation topics of the day, from managing old-growth timber and spotted owl habitat to the deaths of fourteen wildland firefighters in 1994.

Forks in the Trail offers intensely personal reflections of life lessons—of the “foibles, fears, mistakes, adventures, misadventures, successes, failures, and comedies of errors and ego”—learned along the way to a full, remarkable career.

THE LEGENDARY HUNTS OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

BY JOHN SEEREY-LESTER

Acclaimed wildlife artist John Seerey-Lester takes you on a historic journey in words and paintings that will make you feel as though you were there, sharing the exciting adventures with the former president in the new book, The Legendary Hunts of Theodore Roosevelt.

This much anticipated new book features over 50 true stories devoted to Roosevelt's most spectacular hunts on three continents. Complementing Seerey-Lester's fascinating text will be some 120 of his paintings and sketches, which altogether provide a fascinating glimpse into the life of the former president and his passion for wildlife and adventure.

The book covers TR's most active years as an outdoorsman from the 1870s until his death in 1919. It begins with TR's first hunt as a 5 year old, and then tells of his brother Elliot and a thrilling story involving a massive herd of bison on the Western plains. You will share in TR's excitement and frustration as a rancher in the Badlands of the Dakotas; of hunting grizzlies in buckskin and moccasins; of several harrowing incidents that set the stage for TR's illustrious life as one of the world's foremost adventurers.

In Roosevelt's all-time classic, African Game Trails you can relive the account of his African wanderings as an American hunter-naturalist.

This edition includes over 100 refined photographs, drawings, and maps from the original publication as well as bonus images not found in other editions. Roosevelt and his son Kermit left New York in March 1909 and traversed Africa for nearly a year. Roosevelt's object was not that of a mere sportsman to accumulate personal souvenirs of his hunting skill. This was a serious scientific expedition to collect specimens of large and small game of Africa for the Smithsonian Institution—many of which can be found at the Smithsonian still to this day.

Along with mountain sheep, Sheldon also encounters moose, grizzly bears, and caribou. The Wilderness of the Upper Yukon is profusely illustrated with nearly 100 photographs and paintings from the trip including four detailed maps of his travels.

A HUNTER'S WANDERINGS IN AFRICA

- SELOUS

- 6x9 Paperback
- 488 pages

BCHWA | $24.95
ASSOCIATES | $19.95

Follow noted adventurer Frederick Courteney Selous as he spends nine years amongst the game of the far interior of South Africa as a professional hunter beginning in 1871 at the young age of 20. In his preface he notes, "...my pages are naturally chiefly devoted to the ferae naturae amongst which I have been constantly living. Some of my conclusions with regard to lions, rhinoceroses, or other animal, may differ from those arrived at by other men equally competent to give an opinion; but, at all events, they are the result of a long personal experience of the beasts themselves, and have not been influenced in any way by the often unreliable stories of 'old hunters.'" Selous delivers with a very entertaining and informative manuscript that will delight hunters, adventurers, and sportsmen of today.

JOIN THE B&C ASSOCIATES ADVISORY GROUP

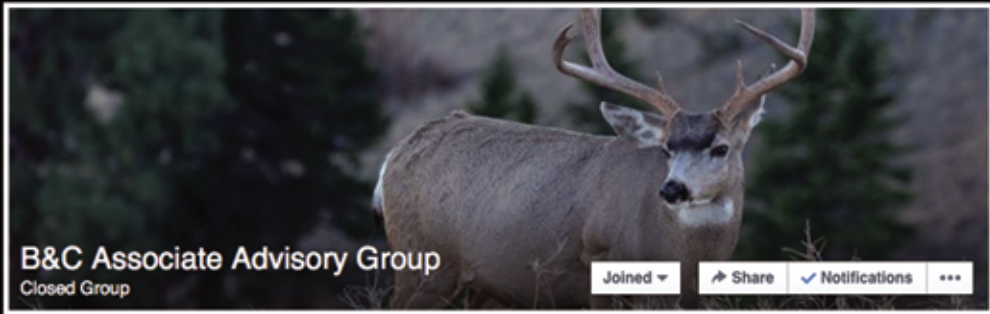

We have created a closed discussion group on Facebook called the B&C Associate Advisory Group. The purpose of this group is to discuss issues related to hunting and conservation, and to create a community where we can help answer questions and solicit feedback.

We want to hear about what is important to YOU, our dedicated Associates.

We look forward to continuing the conversation, helping out our fellow hunters and sharing our fair chase stories!

Be sure to follow us on Facebook to stay up to date on the latest promotions and updates on what the Boone and Crockett Club is working on to promote fair chase and conserve our hunting heritage.

THE VIEWS AND OPINIONS EXPRESSED IN THIS FORUM ARE THOSE OF THE AUTHORS AND DO NOT NECESSARILY REFLECT THE OFFICIAL POLICY OR POSITION OF THE BOONE AND CROCKETT CLUB OR ANY MEMBER OF THE BOONE AND CROCKETT CLUB. PLEASE KEEP IT CIVIL. PERSONAL ATTACKS AND OVER-THE-TOP VULGARITY WILL NOT BE TOLERATED, AND WILL RESULT IN THE BANNING OF OFFENDERS FROM THE GROUP. YOU MUST BE A BOONE AND CROCKETT ASSOCIATE IN GOOD-STANDING TO PARTICIPATE.

All right all, we will start with a little icebreaker. See question forwarded below by a member of this group. The club does have a response to this but let's just see how the conversation goes and how you all would answer this question. Thanks for the topic Whitney. Remember this is intended to serve as a forum to discuss ideas and address issues we face as hunters. There is not a right or wrong answer and be respectful of your fellow members...same team. Let's see what you guys got.

"During a discussion among people practicing conservation law, a colleague posed about the conservation practices of hunters. Our main topic was about the passenger pigeon extinction mainly due to over hunting and over harvesting (in like the 1800s). The question was whether hunters would have continued to hunt a species to extinction (or the brink of it) without the government putting limits in place. Do you think historical hunters would have just woke up one day and decided that hunting as much as they could get wasn't a good idea anymore? It's a little bit of a chicken-and-egg idea, in my opinion. What are your thoughts?"

Greetings everyone from the "Land Down Under"! I am honored to be part of B&C and to be able to share within this group concerning our passion for the outdoors and hunting.

Boone Crockett

Hey everyone, we are currently working on a project looking at youth hunting programs offered by different states in an effort to see which states are doing the most for their youth. These can consist of mentored youth programs, youth only seasons, different youth bag limits, etc. etc. Below we have created a basic template, if you could answer these questions for your state or a state you are familiar with in the comments or email responses to jspring@boone-crockett.org we would greatly appreciate it. Please also include small game/waterfowl/upland in your response.

State:

Legal age to hunt/species:

Legal age to start building points if applicable

Does the state offer youth only seasons:

What is the bag (antlerless, any buck, etc.)

What are the dates:

Before General seasons, Closer to the rut etc.

Cost of youth licenses/Tags per species and for both resident and non.

Any other programs that benefit youth such as guaranteed draw tags only available to youth, generally closed areas open to youth, etc.

Overall how would you rank the state on a scale of 1 to 10 with 1 being no youth accommodation.

Other comments on the particular states youth programs:

Thanks for your time and participation.

I'm thrilled to be part of the team!!!

Thanks for the invite! I have been a Taxidermist in British Columbia for over 40 years and have gained quite a bit of knowledge about wildlife. I hope to share some of my info in the future. Also hoping to hunt in Montana again some day. The great outdoors and all it has to offer is my life!

I don't know about all of you, but scoring has really slowed down the last few years. Some of it has to do with harvesting, but a lot of it has to do with publicity. I know many hunters that have harvested book class deer in my area that are curious about the score, but don't want their name, county and buck posted for all to see. I have talked to a lot of hunters and other measurers and asked, "What if B&C gave the option to not publish the hunter's name and county it was taken?". Pretty much most of them said they might have it scored and entered then. What does everyone think?
